

Our firm believes: Victims Should Have the Right:

A victim has the right at all times to be treated with dignity and respect by the media.

- To say "no" to an interview;
- To select the spokesperson or advocate of the victim's choice;
- To select the time and location for media interviews;
- To request a specific reporter;
- To refuse an interview with a specific reporter even though he or she has granted interviews to other reporters;
- To say "no" to an interview even though the victim has previously granted interviews;
- To release a written statement through a spokesperson in lieu of an interview;
- To exclude children OR OTHER FAMILY MEMBERS from interviews;
- To refrain from answering any questions with which the victim is uncomfortable or that the victim feels are inappropriate;
- To avoid a press conference atmosphere and speak to only one reporter at a time;
- To demand a correction when inaccurate information is reported;
- To ask that offensive photographs or visuals be omitted from airing or publication;
- To conduct a television interview using a silhouette or a newspaper interview without having their picture taken;
- To completely give the victim's side of the story related to the victimization;
- To refrain from answering reporters questions during a trial;
- To file a formal complaint against a reporter;
- To grieve in private;
