Arraignment Statement

"Michelle Wilkins and her family are aware of the court proceedings today to include both the not guilty plea as well as the February 16, 2016 date for trial.

Again, the Wilkins family deeply appreciates the support afforded to them by Stan Garnett and his team at the Boulder County District Attorney's office.

The family is relieved that this next important step in the judicial process has occurred and that a trial date has now been set.

Michelle continues to recover both physically and spiritually. She is taking Yoga classes and in therapy. She has been spending time with family and friends. She has even done a little camping and travelling as well. Currently she is in Colorado for a short time to visit friends and first responders. This is the first trip back to the state since late Spring.

She continues to be heartened by the many messages of love, comfort, and unity she has received from around the world. "
